

British born Williams is an international performer, entertainer, composer and the “San Diego Civic Organist Emerita” (2001-2016).

Raised in a musical Welsh family, she could read music before English.

Williams at the Royal Academy of Music was awarded all major prizes for organ, became Fellow of the Royal College of Organists; Fellow of Trinity College London and, received Associate of the Royal College of Music.

Studied a year with Daniel Roth at St. Sulpice, Paris.

Postgraduate studies at Yale University. Awarded Artist Diploma and the Charles Ives prize.

Earned Doctorate of Musical Arts at Manhattan School of Music and received the Helen Cohn award.

Performed for Princes Diana, Virgil Fox Memorial, 10th anniversary of the Walt Disney Concert Hall Organ as well in many documentaries.

Carols’ programs are full of professional diversity, elegance and unique registrations. Her unique charismatic humor is exceptional.

Williams loves traveling with her husband, composing, filming interviews and organ documentaries.

Carol is the most popular world class classical artist and gives a new experience to the Classical Organ with her diversity, elegance and special charismatic humor to heavy classical, theatrical, popular and jazz organ experience.

Carol also teaches at Randolph College, Lynchburg, VA. melcot.com